RAY OF OPTIMISM SEEN IN INDUSTRIAL CRISIS AS PEACE MOVES MADE

Hopeful Messages From Chicago Regarding rail Strike and Tentative Peace Feelers In Coal Situation Sources of Hope.

Washington, July 19.—The deep shade of indigo blue that has shrouded official Washington for the last two weeks in its unsuccessful efforts to grapple with the twin industrial menaces presented by the coal and rail strikes, was penetrated today by a few sunshiny rays of optimism.

On top of hopeful messages from Chicago that the rail strike is yielding steadily to settlement, it became known here that tentative peace feelers have passed between the warring camps of miners and operators in Washington.

Cabinet officers in touch with all sides of the industrial turmoil described the situation "still tense, but hopeful."

The eleventh hour move toward peace originated, it is understood, on the part of a considerable number of operators who are privately pessimistic over the prospects of mining coal with volunteer workers, even under the protection of the federal and state troops. They are operators also, who have always dealt with the United Mine workers, whose districts are strongly organized and who, from the first, have favored a conciliatory policy toward the union.

Messages have passed between them and union officials remaining in Washington and it is said that John L. Lewis, head of the miners, sent back word that so far as the union is concerned, it is solely a question of tonnage, that is, if sufficient tonnage is represented by the operators favoring peaceful settlement then the miners are willing to talk business.

The operators who are directing the peace feeler have begun a careful canvass to determine how much tonnage they can secure in favor of holding a joint conference with the miners to seek a new national agreement.

The operators are badly split on the proposition, as they have been in virtually all their conferences in Washington—some being outright in favor of a new national agreement and others being insistent upon the "iron hand" at this time when chances apparently are better than ever before for breaking the strong grip the United Mine Workers have maintained on the industry for years. Spokesmen for both sides declined to discuss the peace venture today in any detail. It was "too early," they said. It was marked, however, that union officials and a number of operators remained over in Washington.

The administration is not a party to this new thrust at peace, according to cabinet officers.

While the government looks approvingly on anything that will tend to bring an end to the present menacing situation it was made plain that so far as the president is concerned the die has been cast in the coal strike.

COAL OPERATORS ARE SKEPTICAL

Columbus, O., July 19.—Ohio coal operators have assumed a skeptical attitude towards President Harding's "invitation" to reopen the coal mines.

Most of the operators are of the opinion that any attempt at actual operations would mean "hell a popping."

What to do with the coal after it is mined is another problem, with the railroad strike holding up transportation, according to one owner of a large coal holdings.

Coal mine owners, he said, willing to risk actual operations under the open shop plan, should be given the concentrated efforts of both troops and railway facilities, instead of any attempt being made to operate all of the mines of the state.

FLOODED MINES UNION'S ANSWER TO GOVERNMENT

Stationary Engineers Will Be Used Declares Lewis.

Washington, July 19.—Ten thousand union maintenance miners now engaged as stationary engineers and pumpers in the idle mines in order to prevent the ruin of the mines, will immediately desert their posts, leaving the mines to the mercy of flood waters, if strikebreakers are employed by the operators, it was declared at union mine workers headquarters here today.

When the miners went out on strike on April 1, they left guard groups behind them to safeguard the coal mines against flooding, possible explosions due to collections of gas in pockets and against a variety of hazards.

Great difficulty, it was declared by miners leaders will be experienced by operators who try to replace striking stationary engineers, due to the operation of state statutes in Pennsylvania, Indiana and Illinois, providing that all stationary engineers must have state licenses. Two years experience in the mines is the requirement for such a license, the miners said.

"There will be no defections from the ranks of the union miners," John L. Lewis declared.

"It is absurd to think that the United Mine Workers are going to fight, the United States army," he said, in commenting upon the message sent by President Harding to the governors of states.

"It is well to remember that every union miner who wanted to return to the mines was free to do so for sixteen weeks of the strike. The action of the federal government as expressed in the statement of President Harding is merely a gesture which will not produce coal in any substantial quantity."

Miners' spokesmen pointed out that a very strong factor favoring the miners is the existence of state statutes in Indiana and Illinois prohibiting any miner from working at the face of coal who has not secured a license from the state after examination and proof that he had served two years as an apprentice to a certified miner.

Failure on the part of the operators to observe these statutes, a miners' spokesman said, would bring a protest from the mine workers and the demand that the state prosecute the operators.

In this connection it was pointed out that not even the federal government could transgress the state statutes if it became necessary for the administration to take an active hand in coal production.

SHOULD FIX WAGE STANDARDS IS WORD

Columbus, July 19.—"Wage standards for women and children in industry should be fixed by law so that fair employers of the state will not be handicapped by the competition of the unfair ones," declared Thomas J. Duffy, Columbus, a candidate for the Democratic nomination for governor. Stating that the summer heat tends to dull the voters' interest, Duffy recommended that the primaries be held in the middle of September. He also asserted that more attention should be paid to proper housing conditions for state wards.

Duffy promised that, if elected he would restore the state utilities commission to its intended place as a protector of public rights against excessive utilities rates.

The rebels are commandeering all kinds of supplies.

MAN CONFESSES TO MURDER OF DAYTON BOY DURING MAY

Irvin Laver, 38, Tells Police He Slew Arthur Moore.

Dayton, June 19.—Irvin Laver, 38, home at large, confessed last night to the murder of Arthur Moore, 13, of 525 West Third Street, whose body was found hidden under weeds in the commons near Eaton Avenue and close to the National Military Home, May 19.

The confession was made to police after Laver had been arrested on suspicion when he was discovered attempting to entice two other small boys to the river. Because of his frequent advances to small boys, in which he attempted to lure them away by a promise of giving them rabbits, Laver had come to be known as the "rabbit man."

"I am guilty. I killed the boy. I did not know it until a day or two after, but I know I killed him," Laver confessed between sobs. He also admitted luring several boys and girls from their homes within the last few months and confessed to an assault on a small girl in Riverdale several years ago.

Laver said he met the Moore boy on West Third Street, near Perry, shortly after the boy had left a companion to go home. Under the promise of giving him rabbits, he lured the boy to the field where he strangled and then assaulted him. Bits of jewelry found near the scene were identified by Laver as having been stolen by him.

After the murder Laver went to Eaton and then to Richmond. After learning of the murder he went to Indianapolis, and returned to Dayton only a few days ago. The body of the boy, discovered on the evening of May 20, presented a baffling mystery for police to solve.

The confession came out of a clear sky, as officers were merely questioning him concerning his habits of luring children away. Asked if he had ever lured a boy to a spot near the Home, Laver broke down and confessed. He is said to be an ex-convict having served time for burglary in Miami County, and that he has been guilty of numerous robberies in and around Dayton in addition to his assaults on children.

SAVES MAN'S LIFE IN TRAIN'S PATH

New York, July 19.—John Scovell, aged 19 of Long Island City is alive today through the heroism of Daniel Weissglass of the Bronx.

Suddenly tugging a handkerchief before his eyes Scovell leaped from the downtown platform of the Times Square subway station in front of a train that was pulling in. Weissglass, who was standing in the crowd on the platform, leaped down on the tracks and succeeded in half dragging and half pulling the youth out of harm's way. John Durkin, motorman of the train, seeing Scovell and Weissglass on the tracks as the train swung around the curve at the station, brought the train to a stop within a few feet of them. Scovell told the police he was despondent because of defective eyesight. He said he had been trying to enlist in the army for a year but was unable to do so on account of his eyes.

Boy Gets $25,000 for Loss of Foot.

Vincent Albano

Eight-year-old Vincent Albano of New York City, has received a verdict of $25,000 for the loss of a foot. He was run down by a motor truck, the engine of which had been left running. The lad spent nine months in a hospital, hovering between life and death, and came to like his doctors and nurses so well, he says, he is going to use the money to study to be a physician.

KNIGHT OPPOSES STATE CONSTABULARY

Columbus, July 19.—The establishment of a state constabulary in Ohio is opposed by Congressman C. L. Knight, Akron, a Republican candidate for governor, according to a statement made in a letter to L. A. Ault, Cincinnati manufacturer Knight further declared that he would exercise his veto power on any such legislation, if he became governor.

"The constabulary idea proceeds upon the false assumption that the people cannot take care of themselves and only augments the idea that, in addition to a government inspector in our plants to tell us what to do, a government nurse in our homes to advise us how to live, we should, also, have a government soldier on the front door step to protect us while we follow our government orders inside," Congressman Knight asserted.

SEEK INJUNCTION TO PREVENT MINE MEN INTERFERING

Application Comes as Result of Labor War In West Virginia.

Wellsburg, W. Va., July 19.—An application for an injunction restraining members of the United Mine Workers now on strike from interfering with the operation of the mine of Richland Coal company, located in Brooke, Ohio and Marshall counties, West Virginia, this morning was presented to U. S. District Judge W. E. Baker, at Elkins by Attorney John P. Arbens for the company. Copies of the application for the injunction have been served upon the striking miners now in jail at Wheeling and Wellsburg.

The application comes as a direct result of the labor war at Cliftonville, W. Va., on Monday when miners from Avella, Pa., crossed into West Virginia and attacked the McKinley mine at that place when Sheriff Duvall and three striking miners were killed and a number injured.

A special grand jury to probe Monday's fatal outbreak will be convened at the Brooke county courthouse Monday August 14, it was announced by Prosecuting Attorney W. S. Wilkin, following a conference with Judge J. B. Sommerville.

Late yesterday adjournment was taken in the inquest being conducted by the coroner into Monday's fatalities, until Friday, as a result of confusion in interpretation of a Hungarian non union miner's testimony.

All business establishments in Wellsburg were today asked by Mayor Kraft to suspend between 2 and 4 o'clock Thursday afternoon during funeral services for Sheriff Duvall, killed Monday.

COAL PRODUCERS MEET FOR ACTION

Pittsburgh, July 19.—Members of the Pittsburgh Coal Producers' Association which embraces a large share of Western Pennsylvania, were to meet here at 10 o'clock today to discuss ways of opening many of the bituminous mines in this territory which have been closed since April 1.

The meeting will be secret and is likely to last all day.

Three important points were to be cleared up today. First, the wage scale, second, working conditions including a decision on the check off, third the date for resumption of work at the mines.

ARMED DEPUTIES TO GUARD MEN

Cleveland, July 19.—With thirty-two deputy U. S. Marshals to be sworn in and placed on duty today, active steps have been taken by U. S. Marshall George L. Stauffer to carry out the provisions of injunctions recently issued by Judge Westenhaver in federal court, protecting railroad employees here and at Lima, Kent, Galion, Painesville, Lorain, Fairport Harbor, Willard and other points in the state where violence has occurred in connection with the strike of the shopcrafts men.

Marshall Stauffer warned his new deputies that they were on duty for one purpose alone, to see that orders of the court restraining strikes from interfering with men who remained at work—were obeyed.

At headquarters of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers and Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen here it was said that these organizations are being flooded with complaints from members that they are being asked to take out trains in bad condition.

GOVERNORS MAKE RESPONSE TO PLEA

Washington, July 19.—Responses from the governors of the 28 states to whom President Harding addressed his appeal for support and pledge of aid last night began coming into the White House this morning. President Harding was said to be well pleased with the promptness with which the state executives responded and with the tone of the replies. They probably will be made public later.

STATE OF MICHIGAN WON'T TAKE SIDES IN RAILROAD FIGHT

Detroit, July 19.—"The state of Michigan will not take sides in the fight between the Pere Marquette railroad and the labor unions."

This statement from Governor Groesbeck, and the withdrawal of 19 trains by the Pere Marquette were today's developments in the coal and rail strike situation which now threatens Michigan fruit growers, with millions of dollars loss. Acute shortage of coal was given as the reason for the removal of the trains by the Pere Marquette.

The governor's announcement was made in answer to criticisms by U. S. Marshal Frank T. Newton and Federal Judge Arthur J. Tuttle, voiced in the latter's court during the hearing of the Pere Marquette's petition to enjoin strikers from trespassing. Judge Tuttle scored state officials and Saginaw police, the former for reported withdrawal of the state troops, on duty in Saginaw and the latter for refusal to protect strikebreakers at work. "When I want any advice from the judge on the way I run this office, I'll let him know," Gov. Groesbeck remarked.

"The fact is simply this, that the state of Michigan is not going to take sides, either with the Pere Marquette railroad or the unions in this matter. State officials are not going to act as guards of railroad property."

COST OF LIVING AGAIN ON RISE

Washington, July 19.—The cost of living is again on the rise. It took another jump upward in June, the department of labor announced today in reporting that wholesale prices for June were 1.1-3 per cent above May. And May prices had increased 3.1-2 per cent over April.

Largest price gains were reported for fuel and building materials, in each of which groups the June level was over four per cent higher than that of May. Food articles averaged nearly 1.2 per cent higher and clothes and clothing were more than 2.2 per cent higher than in the month before. Metals showed an advance of 3.4 of one per cent. No change in the price level was shown for chemicals and drugs and home furnishings goods.

Farm products, on the contrary, due to declines in grains, hay and eggs, decreased three fourths of one per cent in average price from May to June, which the group of miscellaneous commodities, due largely to the drop in cattle feed prices, decreased 1.3-4 per cent.

REPORT OF LENINE MURDER IS UNTRUE

Moscow, July 19.—The report of the murder of Nicolai Lenine which apparently originated in Copenhagen, is untrue, it was established today by International News Service. M. Kamenoff, president of the Moscow local soviet, said he had visited Lenine three days ago and found him improving in health. Lenine is still living in his villa in the country near Moscow.

"I was much pleased to see the speedy recovery Lenine is making," said Kamenoff. "He walks in the garden of his home and discusses affairs of state with his friends and advisers. However he will be unable to resume his full duties for several weeks."

HITCHCOCK WILL SUCCEED HIMSELF

Lincoln, Neb., July 19.—U. S. Senator Gilbert M. Hitchcock has been nominated to succeed himself, it was conceded by opponents early today after examination of incomplete returns of Tuesday's primaries.

Complete but unofficial returns from 286 of the 1,913 precincts in the state gave Hitchcock 9,918; Shroyer 3,323.

Hitchcock made the race as a progressive Democrat.

R. B. Howell, progressive republican, was leading Congressman Albert W. Jefferies, old guard republican, by approximately 3,000 votes at 7 o'clock.

UNEARTH ARMS AND SUPPLIES OVER GERMANY

Believe Ammunition Had Been Collected For Revolution.

TO MAKE ARRESTS

Rathenau Assassins' Suicide Revives Interest in the Murder.

Berlin, July 19.—Large stores of arms and ammunition which had been secreted in various parts of Germany are being unearthed, it was revealed today. A big cache of arms including dynamite bullets, has just been located at Potsdam.

It was reported from Stuttgart that the inter-allied military control commission has found 500 machine guns which had been hidden there.

It is reported that some of the arms and ammunition had been collected for revolutionary purposes.

President, Richter of the Berlin police department, said that he believed a number of arrests would be made within the next few days in connection with the assassination of Dr. Walter Rathenau, late foreign secretary.

Interest in the murder of the former secretary has been revived by the suicide of the two actual assassins, Herman Fischer and Erwin Kern, at Castle Saaleck, in Middle Germany.

The socialists are trying to make unprecedented political capital of the killing of Rathenau. They are continually reiterating the allegation that the nationalists (monarchists) and militarists have laid nation wide plans for a revolution. The names of Ludendorff, Von Tirpitz and others are being mentioned in connection with the alleged revolutionary conspiracy.

The police are not convinced that a revolutionary plot was responsible for the assassination of Rathenau. According to the statement of one of the police officials in plot to kill Rathenau was hatched in the brain of a 17 year old school boy, Hans Steubnerach—who confessed his intention of killing the foreign secretary to Gerd Tschow, 16. Tschow in turn told his brother Ernest, and Ernest told Wilhelm Guenther. All these youths are in jail. They all belong to the secret "super patriotic" organization known as Consul which was organized by Colonel Erhardt.

There are now twenty five persons in jail in connection with the assassination of Rathenau.

GRAND JURY WILL INVESTIGATE MINE BATTLE IN WEST VA.

Quiet Continues to Reign at Scene of Late Disturbance

Steubenville, O., July 19.—A special grand jury will be convened at the little court house at Wellsburg, W. Va., on Monday, August 14, to make an investigation into the mine battle at Cliftonville, W. Va., last Monday morning when at least four men, including Sheriff H. H. Duvall, met death. Decision to convene the special grand jury on August 14 came late last night following a conference between Judge Somerville of the Brooke county circuit court and Prosecutor Wilkin.

It was learned this morning that plans for the court action in the Cliftonville battle not only contemplate the convening of the grand jury but a special term of the Brooke county court immediately after the grand jury reports to take action in the cases of any men who may be indicted for participation in the Cliftonville invasion and the fatal gun battle which stands as the worst in the nation with the exception of the Herrin, Ill. massacre.

Quiet has reigned since the Cliftonville area since the fatal outbreak Monday. Small volumes of smoke from the ruins of the partially destroyed tipple is the only remaining evidence of the horror that prevailed in that vicinity Monday.

The attack on the McKinley mine was planned several months ago, according to a signed statement made by Steve Tinkody, 32, one of the prisoners now in the Brooke county jail. H. declared that guns and ammunition were secured at Wellsburg several months ago. Tinkody is a naturalized Hungarian.

RAIL STRIKE SITUATION REACHES STAGE OF WATCHFUL WAITING ON WEDNESDAY

Believe Prevails That Course of Walkout Tending Toward Adjustment of Issues Although No Definite Plan Evolved.

Chicago, July 19.—The rail strike situation appeared today to have reached a stage of "watchful waiting." So far as surface indications are concerned the past twenty-four hours have seen few developments of importance and each side of the controversy seems to have adopted a policy of waiting for the next move of the opposition.

Although no definite peace plan has been announced as the result of parleys held here during the present week, belief prevailed that the course of the strike is tending toward an adjustment of the issues.

Some observers professed to see a doorway to peace in the promise held out by the U. S. Railway Labor Board that the board will give questions of revision of the wage scale right of way whenever such petitions are brought before it. COAL PRODUCERS MEET FOR ACTION

Pittsburgh, July 19.—Members of the Pittsburgh Coal Producers' Association which embraces a large share of Western Pennsylvania, were to meet here at 10 o'clock today to discuss ways of opening many of the bituminous mines in this territory which have been closed since April 1.

The meeting will be secret and is likely to last all day.

Three important points were to be cleared up today. First, the wage scale, second, working conditions including a decision on the check off, third the date for resumption of work at the mines.

ARMED DEPUTIES TO GUARD MEN

Cleveland, July 19.—With thirty-two deputy U. S. Marshals to be sworn in and placed on duty today, active steps have been taken by U. S. Marshall George L. Stauffer to carry out the provisions of injunctions recently issued by Judge Westenhaver in federal court, protecting railroad employees here and at Lima, Kent, Gallion, Painesville, Lorain, Fairport Harbor, Willard and other points, in the state where violence has occurred in connection with the strike of the shopcrafts men.

Marshall Stauffer warned his new deputies that they were on duty for one purpose alone, to see that orders of the court restraining strikes from interfering with men who remained at work—were obeyed.

At headquarters of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers and Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen here it was said that these organizations are being flooded with complaints from members that they are being asked to take out trains in bad condition.

GOVERNORS MAKE RESPONSE TO PLEA

Washington, July 19.—Responses from the governors of the 28 states to whom President Harding addressed his appeal for support and pledge of aid last night began coming into the White House this morning. President Harding was said to be well pleased with the promptness with which the state executives responded and with the tone of the replies. They probably will be made public later.

STATE OF MICHIGAN WON'T TAKE SIDES IN RAILROAD FIGHT

Detroit, July 19.—"The state of Michigan will not take sides in the fight between the Pere Marquette railroad and the labor unions."

This statement from Governor Groesbeck, and the withdrawal of 19 trains by the Pere Marquette were today's developments in the coal and rail strike situation which now threatens Michigan fruit growers, with millions of dollars loss. Acute shortage of coal was given as the reason for the removal of the trains by the Pere Marquette.

The governor's announcement was made in answer to criticisms by U. S. Marshal Frank T. Newton and Federal Judge Arthur J. Tuttle, voiced in the latter's court during the hearing of the Pere Marquette's petition to enjoin strikers from trespassing. Judge Tuttle scored state officials and Saginaw police, the former for reported withdrawal of the state troops, on duty in Saginaw and the latter for refusal to protect strikebreakers at work. "When I want any advice from the judge on the way I run this office, I'll let him know," Gov. Groesbeck remarked.

"The fact is simply this, that the state of Michigan is not going to take sides, either with the Pere Marquette railroad or the unions in this matter. State officials are not going to act as guards of railroad property."

COST OF LIVING AGAIN ON RISE

Washington, July 19.—The cost of living is again on the rise. It took another jump upward in June, the department of labor announced today in reporting that wholesale prices for June were 1.1-3 per cent above May. And May prices had increased 3.2 per cent over April.

Largest price gains were reported for fuel and building materials, in each of which groups the June level was over four per cent higher than that of May. Food articles averaged nearly 1.2 per cent higher and clothes and clothing were more than 2.1-2 per cent higher than in the month before. Metals showed an advance of 3.4 of one per cent. No change in the price level was shown for chemicals and drugs and home furnishings goods.

Farm products, on the contrary, due to declines in grains, hay and eggs, decreased three fourths of one per cent in average price from May to June, which the group of miscellaneous commodities, due largely to the drop in cattle feed prices, decreased 1.34 per cent.

REPORT OF LENINE MURDER IS UNTRUE

Moscow, July 19.—The report of the murder of Nicolai Lenine which apparently originated in Copenhagen, is untrue, it was established today by International News Service. M. Kamenef, president of the Moscow local soviet, said he had visited Lenine three days ago and found him improving in health. Lenine is still living in his villa in the country near Moscow.

"I was much pleased to see the speedy recovery Lenine is making," said Kamenef. "He was in the garden of his home and discussed affairs of state with his friends and advisers. However he will be unable to resume his full duties for several weeks."

HITCHCOCK WILL SUCCEED HIMSELF

Lincoln, Neb., July 19.—U. S. Senator Gilbert M. Hitchcock has been nominated to succeed himself, it was conceded by opponents early today after examination of incomplete returns of Tuesday's primaries.

Complete but unofficial returns from 286 of the 1,913 precincts in the state gave Hitchcock 9,918; Shroyer 3,323.

Hitchcock made the race as a progressive Democrat.

R. B. Howell, progressive republican, was leading Congressman Albert W. Jeffries, old guard republican, by approximately 3,000 votes at 7 o'clock.

UNEARTH ARMS AND SUPPLIES OVER GERMANY

Believe Ammunition Had Been Collected For Revolution.

TO MAKE ARRESTS

Rathenau Assassins' Suicide Revives Interest in the Murder.

Berlin, July 19.—Large stores of arms and ammunition which had been secreted in various parts of Germany are being unearthed, it was revealed today. A big cache of arms including dynamite bullets, has just been located at Potsdam.

It was reported from Stuttgart that the inter-allied military control commission has found 500 machine guns which had been hidden there.

It is reported that some of the arms and ammunition had been collected for revolutionary purposes.

President, Richter of the Berlin police department, said that he believed a number of arrests would be made within the next few days in connection with the assassination of Dr. Walter Rathenau, late foreign secretary.

Interest in the murder of the former secretary has been revived by the suicide of the two actual assassins, Herman Fischer and Erwin Kern, at Castle Saaleck, in Middle Germany.

The socialists are trying to make unprecedented political capital of the killing of Rathenau. They are continually reiterating the allegation that the nationalists (monarchists) and militarists, have laid nation wide plans for a revolution. The names of Ludendorff, Von Tirpitz and others are being mentioned in connection with the alleged revolutionary conspiracy.

The police are not convinced that a revolutionary plot was responsible for the assassination of Rathenau. According to the statement of one of the police officials in plot to kill Rathenau was hatched in the brain of a 17 year old school boy, Hans Steubner—who confided his intention of killing the foreign secretary to Gerd Tschow, 16. Tschow in turn told his brother Ernest, and Ernest told Wilhelm Guenther. All these youths are in jail. They all belong to the secret "super patriotic" or organization known as Consul which was organized by Colonel Erhardt.

There are now twenty five persons in jail in connection with the assassination of Rathenau.

GRAND JURY WILL INVESTIGATE MINE BATTLE IN WEST VA.

Quiet Continues to Reign
at Scene of Late Disturbance

Steuersville, O., July 19.—A special grand jury will be convened at the little court house at Wellsburg, W. Va., on Monday, August 14, to make an investigation into the mine battle at Cliftonville, W. Va., last Monday morning when at least four men, including Sheriff H. H. Duvall, met death. Decision to convene the special grand jury on August 14 came late last night following a conference between Judge Somerville of the Brooke county circuit court and Prosecutor Wilkin.

It was learned this morning that plans for the court action in the Cliftonville battle not only contemplate the convening of the grand jury but a special term of the Brooke county court immediately after the grand jury reports to take action in the cases of any men who may be indicted for participation in the Cliftonville invasion and the fatal gun battle which stands as the worst in the nation with the exception of the Herrin, Ill. massacre.

Quiet has reigned in the Cliftonville area since the fatal outbreak Monday. Small volumes of smoke from the ruins of the partially destroyed tipple is the only remaining evidence of the horror that prevailed in that vicinity Monday.

The attack on the McKinley mine was planned several months ago, according to a signed statement made by Steve Tinkody, 32, one of the prisoners now in the Brooke county jail. He declared that guns and ammunition were secured at Wellsburg several months ago. Tinkody is a naturalized Hungarian.

CHANGES MIND ABOUT SUICIDING DECLARES MAN

Cincinnati, July 19.—On Saturday night Harry Hagelbush sat in a rooming house on Garfield place and addressed a letter to John Hagelbush, mayor of Ashely, Ill., calling him "dear brother," and telling him he had decided to commit suicide on Tuesday. Two Cincinnati detectives arrived out of breath at the rooming house Tuesday night after receiving a long distance call from Ashely. Hagelbush's door yielded to their determined shoulders and there stood their man an open razor poised near his throat.

Through the lather on his face Hagelbush explained that he had written the letter, but felt so good next morning he changed his mind about killing himself and was just shaving to go out when the officers burst in on him.

FORMER XENIAN INVENTS SAFETY DEVICE FOR TRAINS WHICH HE SAYS WILL IMPROVE BLOCK SYSTEM

W. C. Van Dyke, of Wellston, formerly Xenian, who with Mrs. Van Dyke is visiting Mr. and Mrs. George H. Fuller, South Retrospect street, is the inventor of an Electro-Magnetic Automatic train control device, which has proven successful in practical demonstrations and which he hopes to introduce in the railroad signal departments soon.

The device is designed to improve upon the present block system in use on all trunk lines for the prevention of accidents and the inventor claims that it will eliminate accidents now resulting from carelessness or failure to see signals. Van Dyke now has several Cleveland capitalists interested in the project and hopes to have tests made of the instrument on the Chillicothe-Wellston line of the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad shortly.

Under the present signal system lights are used entirely at night, and semaphore arms in the daytime, thus making it absolutely necessary for the engineer to see the signal and act on it himself. With the addition of Van Dyke's invention, signals will flash in the cab and in case of danger the air brakes will automatically set, thus stopping the train.

The new device consists of two induction coils, a positive and a negative. The negative coil is attached to the tender of the locomotive and the positive is fastened to the ties. As the locomotive passes over the coil fastener to the track, induction takes place and the coil on the tender is magnetized by the coil on the ties, when the signals are set against the train. In turn then this current flashes a light in the engineer's cab, yellow for caution and red for danger. Each block will be so equipped and the lights in the cab will inform the engineer constantly of just what is before him. In case of a derailed train or other obstruction on the track ahead the red light in the cab will show immediately upon approaching that block and the air brakes will automatically set.

Van Dyke has been working on his invention more than a year. The beauty of the device lies in its simplicity.

"Mothers All Over the World Should Be Told About Sykes Comfort Powder," says Nurse Fry

Independence, Mo.—"I wish I could tell mothers all over the world about Sykes Comfort Powder. I could write all day of the wonderful results I have had in using it on children. I have proved over and over again it is the only powder that will heal and prevent chafing, scalding, rashes, skin irritations and soreness, and the little baby whose picture I am sending you has always been entirely free from such troubles by its use."

—Laura M. Fry, Independence, Mo.

The reason Sykes Comfort Powder is so successful in such cases is because it contains six healing, antiseptic ingredients not found in ordinary talcums. Physicians, mothers and nurses call it "A Healing Wonder."

Anyone in the city or county wanting this treatment should report to the Red Cross rooms Saturday between 12:30 and one o'clock, or on Tuesday, Thursday and Saturdays of other week, at the same hour. Three injections of vaccine, one each week for three weeks, are required to make the patient immune to the disease.

CHAUTAUQUA GIVES POPULAR PROGRAM GUARANTEE IS MET

That the advance ticket sale for the Chautauqua this week practically covered the amount of the guarantee, is the statement of the committee in charge of the annual affair.

As a result there will be no deficit existing this year, and practically all of the guarantee money has been turned over the Chautauqua officials, with some ticket salesmen still to report.

The result of the sale enables the committee to make an unusually good report, as frequently a deficit has been reported through laxty in the before-reported ticket sale, which has fallen on the shoulders of the guarantors. The Chautauqua managers are also living up to its part of the guarantee, the committee reports, and has furnished a new tent and chairs as well as living up to its advance notices of an unusually good program.

The daily lectures of Dr. Ben A. Arneson are proving popular, it is said, and the other programs so far have interested and entertained huge audiences. The lecture "All Abroad," by Elwood T. Bailey, was Monday night's feature and Tuesday evening a concert by the Metropolitan Orchestra and character impersonations by John B. Ratto, were very well received. The presentation of that popular stage offering "Friendly Enemies," by a good cast Wednesday evening is expected to draw the biggest crowd of the week. Thursday program includes concerts by the Misses Keller and Montville Flowers' lecture on "America Looking Ahead."

FOUR ARE CHARGED WITH MURDER IN MINE WAR DEATHS

Wellsburg, W. Va., July 19.—Four well known farmers of Brooke County were lodged in the county jail here today by Captain White, of the West Virginia state police. The four men are charged with murder. The finding of empty ammunition boxes on their farms is said to have led to their arrest.

The prisoners are: Martin E. Cline, 48 and his son, Shirley, 19; Riley Stout, 40 and son, Graham, 19 who occupy farms close to Cliftonville, where on Monday during a pitched battle, sheriff H. H. Duvall and three other men were killed.

State troopers today reported finding empty ammunition boxes which had contained rifle cartridges, on the farms of Cline and Stout. State police say both men were union sympathizers, and the police are developing the theory that ammunition may have been handed out to the strikers on the two farms.

PUBLIC MEETING HELD TUESDAY TO DISCUSS TYPHOID SITUATION IN THIS CITY

Representatives of various civic organizations met with City Manager S. O. Hale to discuss the typhoid epidemic question, Tuesday afternoon in the city commission chamber, at which time a committee of physicians composed of Dr. H. C. Messenger, Dr. R. Kent Finley and Dr. B. R. McClellan was appointed to assist Dr. R. H. Grube, City Health Commissioner, during the epidemic period.

The committee members, two from each organization, met in the office of the Social Service League first, where Dr. R. K. Finley was selected to present the object of the meeting to the city manager. At the request of the representative, the city manager opened the meeting with an explanation of the typhoid situation and of what actions had been taken so far in an effort to suppress the spread of the disease by city officials and health authorities.

In connection with cross connections at industrial plants, Mr. Hale reported that city health officials had kept in close touch with the situation and the action in sealing the private pump at the Kelly company Saturday was merely a precautionary measure. He said that this action was taken at a conference with company officials, and that the latter gave their permission when city officials suggested the plan as a precautionary measure, following receipt of a letter from the State Department of Health referring to the industrial situation in general.

The manager said plant officials had already taken steps to prevent any possible contamination of the city water.

Dr. H. C. Messenger said the report on the city water would tend to eliminate it as a possible cause.

He said a crisis should be declared and an effort made to immediately stamp out the disease. Dairies, he said, should be closed until they were able to show a clean bill of health.

Tests should be taken not only every day, but two or three times a day until the epidemic is checked, said Dr. Messenger. He said an epidemic of hoop and mouth disease or cholera would result in a fund of $15,000 or $20,000 subscribed immediately to combat the disease.

The typhoid epidemic is more important, he said, because human life is at stake. His remarks were applauded.

Dr. Grube, city health commissioner, invited into the conference and asked for a statement, said he was led to believe very strongly that had sanitary conditions at open vaults and germ carrying flies caused the disease. He said he was satisfied in his own mind that the disease did not come from milk.

Children with the disease during the previous epidemic might have transferred the germs to open vaults where they were spread by flies, he said.

The Rev. E. W. Middleton, pastor of the Reform Church, and representing the Ministerial Association, said it was time the responsibility was put somewhere. He suggested an auxiliary health commission of doctors. He said if some physicians believe it comes from the water and some from milk, that both should be taken care of. At the suggestion of Mrs. McKay, the three physicians present, Drs. Messenger, McClellan and Finley were named on the commission and at the motion of the Rev. W. H. Tilford, pastor of the Presbyterian church and representative of the Kiwanis Club, the suggestion was carried by vote, the meeting adjourning.

Representatives invited to the conference were: Medical Society: Dr. Reed Madden, Dr. H. C. Messenger; Junior Women's Club: Mrs. Harry Smith, Mrs. A. C. Messenger; Rotary Club, Dr. R. K. Finley, J. A. Nisbet; Kiwanis Club, J. T. Charters, Rev. W. H. Tilford; Board of Education, C. H. Little and J. W. Santmyer; Social Service League, Dr. B. R. McClellan and Mrs. Howard Little; Chamber of Commerce, H. A. Higgins.

and Ralph M. Neeld; Ministerial Association, Rev. E. W. Middleton and Rev. B. B. Uhl; Red Cross, Mrs. S. M. McKay, Mrs. W. O. Custis; Business and Professional Women's Club, Miss Mary Gretsinger; Miss Imo Marshall; Mothers Circle, Mrs. C. A. Montgomery, Mrs. Roy C. Hayward; Xenia W. C. T. U. Mrs. Robert Terrell, Mrs. Eva Keller; Terrill W. C. T. U., Miss Mary Ervin, Mrs. W. O. Oglesby.

The disease now is in the same section of the city as during the May epidemic, according to the manager, who said that fact made him believe germs from the previous epidemic were causing the present one. Dr. Grube with Dr. E. R. Shaffer of the state department, went over the water situation here, said Mr. Hale, and every water report, from Columbus was marked satisfactory, according to him. Since May, according to Mr. Hale, all dead-ends of water mains have been flushed out, vaults inspected and disinfected. "If anyone can point out to me anything that could be done that hasn't been done, I will be glad for them to do it," said the manager. He pointed out that Dr. Grube has worked hard along his own theories regarding the cause of the epidemic.

"Why do we have to wait until we have an epidemic and lose several lives before anything is done," said Mrs. S. M. McKay, representing the Greene County Red Cross Chapter as the manager concluded his report. Why do we have these epidemics? If Dr. Grube does not see that they are prevented it is up to the manager.

Dr. R. Kent Finley representing the Rotary Club asked the manager concerning the milk situation. Mr. Hale said a count had been made at the instigation of Dr. Grube, but that he did not know what the figures were. They were supplied by a reporter who had seen the report. Dr. H. C. Messenger representing the Greene County Medical Society said he had taken two samples on his own accord, and had had a bacteria count made by Dr. Goodhue, in Dayton, which showed that the samples tested 86,500 and 66,000 and that there was no reference to typhoid bacteria.

H. A. Higgins, representing the Chamber of Commerce wanted to know if the state representative who had been here had made a report. The manager said the letter from the state engineer was the one urging officials to close the cross connections. Mr. Higgins demanded to know why that had not been made public and why the fact was kept secret. The manager said there had been no secrecy. Mr. Higgins asked why a report had not been made public on the milk situation. Mr. Hale replied that he had none to make public.

Miss Imo Marshall representing the Business and Professional Women's Club complained that outside vaults in some sections of the city were in bad condition. She was told by the manager that they had been inspected. Miss Marshall said she watched Dr. Shaffer and that he paid no attention to these vaults and that she did not believe Dr. Grube or any body else ever ordered them cleaned up. She said she had been reporting similar conditions without results for five years.

Dr. Finley, again on the floor, said two conditions should be worked toward. One to stop the spread of typhoid and the other to prevent it happening in the future. He said the city is in the midst of an emergency. Four or five years ago, he said a typhoid epidemic was traced to the water. Six or eight weeks ago said Dr. Finley there was another epidemic. During the present epidemic, it is necessary to suspect the water again until it is proven differently, he said. He also said the milk situation should be dealt with as the bacteria count is too high. As safety measures, he said, people should be warned to boil water and sterilize milk, get a weekly bacteria count on the milk, clean up the breeding places of flies, vaults, cess pools, garbage and milk plants and inaugurate swat the fly campaigns. "These safety measures won't hurt and they ought to do some good," said Dr. Finley. Inoculation is another remedy he said. "My criticism is that Dr. Grube has not come out with anything yet to protect the people against the disease except a warning to swat 'flies' said Dr. Finley. "He said it was foolish to boil the water if the paper reported him correctly. It is not foolism. He should have warned the people to do these things. A high bacteria count in the milk was called to Dr. Grube's attention last January but nothing was done. My idea is to have a bacteria count every week and show these dairymen how to clean up their places. In the meantime we should sterilize the milk," he concluded.

John A. Nisbet, representing the Rotary Club, and City Auditor I. J. Zell, contributed to the forum at this point. Dr. Finley then suggested that it is necessary to take a lot of water tests to show bacteria in it, as the bacteriologists might miss on many tests before finding them. J. Thorb Charters, representing the Kiwanis Club, criticized Dr. Grube for not sufficient preventative measures. "He hasn't been busy enough beforehand," he said, "although I have no doubt he is busy now." He referred to the garbage situation, hoping for a solution. "If Dr. Grube goes ahead I think the city will stand behind him but if he does not they ought to stand behind somebody else," said Mr. Charters.

Mrs. O. S. Kelly, public health nurse, reported a case of a syphilitic child, being amongst other children. She said when the case was reported to Dr. Grube that he said it was not infectious. Mrs. Kelly said she took the child to Dayton and the city physicians there said the case should have been reported to the health commission and isolated at once. Mrs. Kelly said the case had been reported but nothing done about it. In one place, Mrs. Kelly said, four colored families and three white families are living in one house of seven rooms.

COMPANY GAVE PERMISSION TO SEAL PUMP SATURDAY

That the sealing of the private pump at the plant of the R. A. Kelly Company Saturday was done with the full consent and cooperation of officials of the company at the suggestion of City Manager S. O. Hale and was simply a precautionary measure with the knowledge that company had complied with instructions of the State Department of Health was the result of an informal meeting of members of the City Commission with company officials at the plant Tuesday morning.

No peremptory order was issued to seal the pump, both city officials and heads of the concern said. They went on to say that the action was the outgrowth of a conference between City Manager Hale, City Auditor T. H. Zell, and officials of the Kelly Company following the receipt of a letter by Dr. R. H. Grube from the State Department of Health in which the department urged "immediate action in correcting cross connections either by shutting them off entirely or installing safety devices which will prevent possibility of back flow." The letter referred to the general industrial situation.

Officials of the company said Tuesday that every precaution had been taken from the time the irregular check valve had been brought to their attention by an insurance inspector, who later reported it to the state Department of Health. At that time the necessary repairs were made, say officials, and acting on instructions from the Department of Health began work of ordering new valves. According to company officials the representative of the state said that there was no immediate hurry and that anytime in the next three or four months would be sufficient to have the new valves installed as the repairs were considered absolutely safe. They say that they were not ordered by Dr. Grube to install a new valve immediately.

That there is no possibility of city water being contaminated at the plant was the statement stressed by officials of the company, Tuesday. They pointed out that the pump which is for use only in case of fire, only has a pressure of 60 pounds, whereas the city water pressure at the plant is 80 pounds this being taken as assurance that it would be impossible to pump creek water into the city mains, even were the pump in use which they say it is not.

City officials hold the same opinion and say that there action in requesting the pump be sealed was merely to comply with state instructions. It is also pointed out that were infection coming from this source, employees of the mills and residents of that section would be the first to be infected whereas, officials say, there are no typhoid cases in the plant and none in that district.

Officials of the company took issue with the statement that the pump had been ordered sealed representing the implication that contamination of the city water supply might have come from that source. While the statement given out by Dr. Grube was to the effect that the action had been ordered, City Manager Hale declared that the sealing was in the form of a suggestion and that company officials readily consented to the plan and that the pump was sealed with their full spirit of cooperation, with the express desire to reassure the public that every precaution was being taken by the company.

J. W. Santmyer said Wednesday morning that the last parts of the new valve installation had just arrived and immediate steps would be taken to substitute them for the old valve.

CONSTRUCTION BONDS RE-SOLD TUESDAY

School construction bonds in the sum of $215,000 turned back to the city board of education by the state industrial commission, were re-sold Tuesday to the Davies-Bertram Company at five per cent interest and at a premium of $2838, according to John R. Beacham, business manager of the schools.

At the time the total bonds amounting to $550,000 were issued they were all taken by the state industrial commission at the request of the board, as the rate was high at that time. The commission took the bonds at six per cent. With an opportunity to sell them at five per cent, Mr. Beacham was able to persuade the commission to return those it was still possible to return two months ago, and $215,000 worth of bonds were turned back.

The sale at five per cent will save between $50,000 and $60,000 on the total duplicate in the next 20 years, it is estimated.

Anyone in the city or county wanting this treatment should report to the Red Cross rooms Saturday between 12:30 and one o'clock, or on Tuesday, Thursday and Saturdays of each week, at the same hour. Three injections of vaccine, one each week for three weeks, are required to make the patient immune to the disease.

This is the same treatment used in the army to prevent typhoid epidemics and is considered efficient, physicians say. The vaccine is supplied by the State Department of Health through the local Health Commissioner and the physicians are donating their services.

CHAUTAUQUA GIVES POPULAR PROGRAM GUARANTEE IS MET

That the advance ticket sale for the Chautauqua this week practically covered the amount of the guarantee, is the statement of the committee in charge of the annual affair.

As a result there will be no deficit existing this year, and practically all of the guarantee money has been turned over the Chautauqua officials, with some ticket salesmen still to report.

The result of the sale enables the committee to make an unusually good report, as frequently a deficit has been reported through lack of the before-season ticket sale, which has then fallen on the shoulders of the guarantors. The Chautauqua management is also living up to its part of the guarantee, the committee reports, and has furnished a new tent and chairs as well as living up to its advance notices of an unusually good program.

The daily lectures of Dr. Ben A. Arneson are proving popular, it is said, and the other programs so far have interested and entertained huge audiences. The lecture "All Abroad," by Elwood T. Bailey, was Monday night's feature and Tuesday evening a concert by the Metropolitan Orchestra and character impersonations by John B. Ratto, were very well received. The presentation of that popular stage offering "Friendly Enemies," by a good cast Wednesday evening is expected to draw the biggest crowd of the week. Thursday program includes concerts by the Misses Keller and Montville Flowers' lecture on "America Looking Ahead."

count on the milk, clean up the breeding places of flies, vaults, cess pools, garbage and milk plants and inaugurate a fly campaign. "These safety measures won't hurt and they ought to do some good," said Dr. Finley. Inoculation is another remedy he said. "My criticism is that Dr. Grube has not come out with anything yet to protect the people against the disease except a warning to 'swat flies' said Dr. Finley. "He said it was foolish to boil the water, it is not foolish. He should have warned the people to do these things. A high bacteria count in the milk was called to Dr. Grube's attention last January but nothing was done. My idea is to have a bacteria count every week and show the dairymen how to clean up their places. In the meantime we should sterilize the milk," he concluded.

John A. Nisbet, representing the Rotary Club, and City Auditor T. J. Zell, contributed to the forum at this point. Dr. Finley then suggested that it is necessary to take a lot of water tests to show bacteria in it, as the bacteriologists might miss on many tests before finding them. J. Thorp Charters, representing the Kiwanis Club, criticized Dr. Grube for not sufficient preventative measures. "He hasn't been busy enough beforehand," he said, "although I have no doubt he is busy now." He referred to the garbage situation, hoping for a solution. "If Dr. Grube goes ahead I think the city will stand behind him but if he does not they ought to stand behind somebody else," said Mr. Charters.

Mrs. O. S. Kelly, public health nurse, reported a case of a syphilitic child, being among other children. She said when the case was reported to Dr. Grube that he said it was not infectious. Mrs. Kelly said she took the child to Dayton and the city physicians there said the case should have been reported to the health commission and isolated at once. Mrs. Kelly said the case had been reported but nothing done about it. In one place, Mrs. Kelly said, four colored families and three white families are living in one house of seven rooms.

COMPANY GAVE PERMISSION TO SEAL PUMP SATURDAY

That the sealing of the private pump at the plant of the R. A. Kelly Company Saturday was done with the full consent and cooperation of officials of the company at the suggestion of City Manager S. O. Hale and was simply a precautionary measure with the knowledge that company had complied with instructions of the State Department of Health was the result of an informal meeting of members of the City Commission with company officials at the plant Tuesday morning.

No peremptory order was issued to seal the pump, both city officials and heads of the concern said. They went on to say that the action was the outgrowth of a conference between City Manager Hale, City Auditor T. H. Zell, and officials of the Kelly company following the receipt of a letter by Dr. R. H. Grube from the State Department of Health in which the department urged "immediate action in correcting cross connections either by shutting them off entirely or installing safety devices which will prevent possibility of back flow." The letter referred to the general industrial situation.

Officials of the company said Tuesday that every precaution had been taken from the time the irregular check valve had been brought to their attention by an insurance inspector, who later reported it to the state Department of Health. At that time the necessary repairs were made, say officials, and acting on instructions from the Department of Health began work of ordering new valves. According to company officials the representative of the state said that there was no immediate hurry and that anytime in the next three or four months would be sufficient to have the new valves installed as the repairs were considered absolutely safe. They say that they were not ordered by Dr. Grube to install a new valve immediately.

That there is no possibility of city water being contaminated at the plant was the statement stressed by officials of the company, Tuesday. They pointed out that the pump which is for use only in case of fire, only has a pressure of 60 pounds, whereas the city water pressure at the plant is 80 pounds this being taken as assurance that it would be impossible to pump creek water into the city mains, even were the pump in use which they say it is not.

City officials hold to the same opinion and say that there action in requesting the pump be sealed was merely to comply with state instructions. It is also pointed out that were infection coming from this source, employees of the mills and residents of that section would be the first to be infected whereas, officials say, there are no typhoid cases in the plant and none in that district.

Officials of the company took issue with the statement that the pump had been ordered sealed resulting in the implication that contamination of the city water supply might have come from that source. While the statement given out by Dr. Grube was to the effect that the action had been ordered, City Manager Hale declared that the sealing was in the form of a suggestion and that company officials readily consented to the plan and that the pump was sealed with their full spirit of cooperation, with the express desire to reassure the public that every precaution was being taken by the company.

J. W. Santmyer said Wednesday morning that the last parts of the new valve installation had just arrived and immediate steps would be taken to substitute them for the old valve.

POLICE SEARCH FOR MAN

Columbus, July 19.—Police here are searching for W. T. Willey, 55, Newark, who disappeared with his two daughters, Marie, 12, and Hazel, 8, after calling for the children at the home of another daughter at 1025 Dennison Avenue, late Monday evening. He was said to be in an extremely morbid state of mind following the recent death of his wife.

CONSTRUCTION BONDS RE-SOLD TUESDAY

School construction bonds in the sum of $215,000 turned back to the city board of education by the state industrial commission, were re-sold Tuesday to the Davies-Bertram Company at five per cent interest and at a premium of $2838, according to John R. Beacham, business manager of the schools.

At the time the total bonds amounting to $550,000 were issued they were all taken by the state industrial commission at the request of the board, as the rate was high at that time. The commission took the bonds at six per cent. With an opportunity to sell them at five per cent, Mr. Beacham was able to persuade the commission to return those it was still possible to return two months ago, and $215,000 worth of bonds were turned back.

The sale at five per cent will save between $50,000 and $60,000 on the duplicate in the next 20 years, it is estimated.

HAS FIAT MONEY CLAIMED ANOTHER VICTIM?

Advocates of paper credit currency in unlimited quantities to suit public demands, have another lesson in the threatened, if not complete, collapse of financial Germany. This event has been predicted many times by those who have discussed the inevitable consequences of Germany's printing press money and measured the price Germany must pay if paper money in unlimited quantities continues to settle over that unhappy country like snowflakes. Recent reports indicate that when an American exchanges an American one-hundred dollar bill for German marks, he requires a large-sized auto-truck to take away the vast volume of German paper money. It is reported that the increase of German paper marks in June alone was fourteen billion. The only thing that has made the printing presses hesitate even, is the strike of the printers; and that hesitation has thrown the German business men and manufacturers into consternation. Like the man who had hold of the tail of an infuriated bull—the German people do not dare to let go, to stop the printing presses wholly.

Germany started out in the World war to pay the war expenses with fiat paper money, expecting to win and exact a large enough indemnity to take up all the paper marks issued. But instead of victory, Germany met defeat; and with it came a reparation debt of many million gold marks. With much of her territory and raw material taken from her, with a steady drain of all the gold she possessed, and flooded with paper marks already, Germany was compelled to carry on the "bluff" as long as possible. Judging from recent cablegrams, Germany is reaching the end of her rope. Unless the reparation program is altered, and the printing of paper money stopped forthwith, Germany will be bankrupt soon, if she is not already. Neither the allies nor the United States will make a gold loan to Germany until Germany ceases to rely on paper money issued in unlimited quantities. Without some assistance Germany is doomed, it appears. Thus has fiat money brought down another victim?

But Germany will not suffer alone, if there is national bankruptcy, which simply means national repudiation of all public debts, whether represented in bonds or paper notes. The whole world, including the United States will suffer. Trade between Germany and other countries cannot continue satisfactorily without a restoration of gold exchange or some fixed value (in gold) to the German paper mark. This is one of the evil consequences of a resort to unlimited quantities of paper fiat money—it not only enervates the country that issues it but throws out of gear the whole economic machinery of the commercial world.

COLD FACTS REGARDING OPERATIONS OF THE TARIFF.

Theory and practice come into conflict as soon as the tariff question is under debate. The cold fact is that the country has prospered when the tariff was high, and suffered when the free traders cut it down. Of course, there is a difference between reasonable tariff and a "Chinese wall," but whoever studies history must admit that the eras of good business here are the eras of an effective tariff and the eras of financial depression and of general trade prostration have been the eras of low tariff.

Other explanations may be offered but there are the facts. We had a most startling lesson only a few years ago. When Wilson and his Democratic free trade Congress came in they passed a free trade tariff. Factories had to shut their doors. Business was down and out. If the war had not developed, the United States would have gone through the worst business difficulties in its history.

Instead, the war did break, and Europe had to use everything it made and wanted all we could make. This caused a complete change in the situation, but, as soon as the demand ceased and the world turned to creation instead of destruction, it became necessary to adopt an emergency tariff which was at least a check to the ruinous course on which we had been embarked.

Those who laugh at tariff legislation had their laugh well turned years ago, when the United States adopted a protective tariff for tinplate. None was manufactured here, and this well-nursing so feeble an "infant industry" was the joke of the free traders. But shortly this legislation made the tinplate industry of this country lead all the rest of the world.

There is always howling over any prospective change in the tariff. Everybody wants all he can get. But after a protective law is enacted, things settle down. Those who were to be ruined turn up smiling. The hungry, if not satisfied, still thrive, and business takes a new start. So it will be now, if once the law is enacted and put into effect.

A LIFE AMBITION BEING REALIZED.

Prof. and Mrs. Hiram M. Perkins, of Delaware, Ohio, gives of the most of the fund for the new Perkins telescope at Ohio Wesleyan University, have saved all their lives for this very purpose. The salary of Prof. Perkins was never over $1,800, and that only at the end of his teaching career. The only outside financial help he ever received was half interest in his father's 360 acre farm. Prof. Perkins was marvelously successful in his investments, especially in banking. He never cashed his dividend checks, but continually reinvested them in seven per cent securities. He claims never to have lost a cent in any of these ventures.

After their fortune began climbing to $50,000, to $75,000, and then considerably past the $100,000 mark, they still maintained their frugal style of living. Mrs. Perkins, the daughter of a minister, learned economy in her youth and has practiced it all her life. Although her marriage took place away back in 1866, she is still spry enough to do her own housework, and has never employed a maid. They have lived and saved for the purpose of providing this $250,000 gift, so that young men and young women might be impressed by the majesty and power of God as they gaze through the great telescope.

NEW PICTURES.

The latest newspaper craze, most violent in New York, is news pictures. Some evening papers have taken to printing editions at 10 o'clock in the morning, made up entirely of pictures. All the papers there are publishing far more "news cuts" than ever before, and the same tendency is observable, in varying degree, all over the country.

"People want to see what is happening at a glance," says the editors. And from the way the public takes to the idea, they seem to be right. It is the old principle of big headlines, improved on. A good picture of an interesting event tells the story far more quickly and effectively than any type could do.

Important people fall in readily with this fad, and pose for action photos with a willingness never known before.

LEAVE SOMETHING ...

Most of the joys of this life come from things that someone else has left behind.

The painted masterpiece, the great book, the written song, the carved stone or molded bronze, the long rows of trees in our cities and parks, treasures of art hundreds of years old.

The rug under my feet, the stand beside me, the typewriter on which these words are typed, the bookcases and other pieces about me, everything with which we come in contact, human hands have touched and fashioned them all. Each represents something left behind by a worker or thinker, who puts his heart into his work.

A dozen men are building a wall about my yard. I have been watching them a great deal. One man in particular has attracted me. He works so intelligently and neglects nothing. He takes great pride in his work. Soon he will be gone. But the wall will live for hundreds of years. That workman will leave something behind—and I shall often think of him as I look into the beauty of the stones he placed so carefully and well.

Every moment you are performing—or you are not. Every time you do perform, and put love and interest into your work, you put yourself into something that is going to live—how long no one knows.

But it is not for us to worry about the length of time our words shall live, but how well we can do them so that they shall live.

Work to leave something worth while behind you each day.

I was showing a friend through the home of Edwin Booth, the great actor, the other day. It is now the home of The Players Club in New York City. All about the rooms and walls are records and pictures and books and costumes and mementoes of days long gone. As I looked at the costumes that Booth once wore, I imagined great crowds applauding and all the admiration that high art deserves. Booth left these things, but more than these he left a wonderful character. Leave something behind — each day.

Rippling Rhymes

BARDS AND FARMERS.

To the bard, serenely singing, I remarked, "You're loafing there, while the husbandmen are bringing corn and turnips to the fair. Oh, the farmers raise their squashes, build the barn and crib and byre, while the poet only sloshes tinhorn music from his lyre. And the farmers feed the masses, and they make the world go round, but the poet, as he passes, merely deals in empty sound." Said the bard, "The busy granger, as he toils from day to day, as he fills the yawning manager with the home grown brands of hay, quotes the message of the singers, quotes the poets' cheer-up dope, thinking that the bards are dingers, giving courage, pep and hope. 'Let us then be up and doing,' quotes the farmer, as he plows; 'still achieving, still pursuing,' feeding hogs and milking cows. And the poets' words inspire him as he labors all day long, and I fear you'd only tire him if you robbed him of his song. Oh, we work in divers manners, as the bright days come and go; some are born to carry banners, some are born to shovel snow; and no man should view his neighbors with a sneering sort of mirth, saying, 'Useless are your labors—why not tumble off the earth?'"

Rippling Rhymes

By WALT MASON

BARDS AND FARMERS.

To the bard, serenely singing, I remarked, "You're loafing there, while the husbandmen are bringing corn and turnips to the fair. Oh, the farmers raise their squashes, build the barn and crib and byre, while the poet only sloshes tinhorn music from his lyre. And the farmers feed the masses, and they make the world go round, but the poet, as he passes, merely deals in empty sound." Said the bard, "The busy granger, as he toils from day to day, as he fills the yawning manager with the home grown brands of hay, quotes the message of the singers, quotes the poets' cheer-up dope, thinking that the bards are dingers, giving courage, pep and hope. 'Let us then be up and doing,' quotes the farmer, as he plows; 'still achieving, still pursuing,' feeding hogs and milking cows. And the poets' words inspire him as he labors all day long, and I fear you'd only tire him if you robbed him of his song. Oh, we work in divers manners, as the bright days come and go; some are born to carry banners, some are born to shovel snow; and no man should view his neighbors with a sneering sort of mirth, saying, 'Useless are your labors—why not tumble off the earth?'"

Ohio Federation of Women's Clubs

By Mrs. George Elliott McCormick.

By making our own lives "better copy" for the realists and by attempting, at least, a solution of some of the problems presented will remedy some of the defects of our modern American literature, according to Mrs. Rose V. S. Berry, of California, chairman of the department of fine arts of the General Federation of Women's Clubs.

Mrs. Berry is an eloquent defender of the English language as a medium for beauty; she deplores the present-day tendency toward bareness of expression and praises the value of rhythm in verse. In one of the very best addresses heard at the biennial meet she described the realistic movement and its baneful effects upon literature. She said we were prone to emphasize the dark side of life, which she said we had taken from the Russians, and that, after stating the problems without giving the solutions, which we have taken from the Scandinavian countries, we failed to reach the sunny slopes. These, she held at the real causes of some of the defects of our American literature today.

"Life and Literature of Tomorrow" is a fascinating subject for club women everywhere, and the lack of respect for the English language is a matter of vital concern to the Ohio federation as it is to all of the state organizations.

Mrs. Robert Morris, Toledo chairman of literature for the Ohio federation has had numerous requests for lists of reading material for the summer. The club woman who keeps up her summer reading, she says, is going to be a great deal more able to prepare her club papers next fall by keeping her mind alive by diversified reading. She submits the following: Bok's "Americanization of Edward Bok," "Burroughs' 'My Boyhood,' Cantacuzene's "My Life Here and There," Hamilton's "Vanished Poms of Yesterday," Strachey's "Queen Victoria," "Best Short Stories of 1921," Morley's "Tales from Rolltop Desk," O. Henry Memorial Awards "Prize Stories of 1921," Yezierska's "Hungry Hearts," Bojer's "The Great Hunger," Deland's "The Vehement Flame," Galworthy's "The Forsyte Saga," Hamsun's "Growth of the Soil," Lagerlof's "The Outcast," Tarkington's "Alice Adams," Quick's "Vandemark's Folly," Drever's "Psychology of Everyday Life," Wells' "Outline of History," Cabot's "Seven Ages of Children," and Grahame's "The Golden Age."

Eighty-seven years old and still an active member of the Lakeside Federation of Women's Clubs, Mrs. Mary Mottey, of Olak Harbor, had the honor of representing the Oak Harbor club at the twenty-eighth annual convention conducted at Lakeside July 12 and 13. It was the largest convention ever held at the Lakeside federation, three clubs being admitted within the past year with a membership of 300. The federation is now made up of forty-two clubs. One of three clubs admitted within the past year is Little Women's Club, Willard, made up of girls of twelve and thirteen years of age. The Lakeside federation's new officers are: President, Mrs. W. H. Gooding, Tiffin; vice-president, Mrs. W. H. Pollock, Huron; secretary, Mrs. Mary Kirk, Elmore; treasurer, Mrs. W. T. Dagar, Lorain; auditor, Mrs. Mary Leach, Milan.

More than 300 delegates and visiting club women of the Lakeside federation and nine-tysix women unaffiliated with the Lakeside federation attended.

The convention authorized the secretary to draft a letter to be forwarded at once to Mrs. A. V. Hageman, of Lorain, past president of the Lakeside federation, who, when taking a trip through the West, was hurled from an observation car at a curve in the road, falling down a mountain side and sustaining severe injuries.

Styles BY LENORE

With the advent of midsummer the organdie dress appears as not a new but a definitely smart possibility. Of course its delicacy and crispness make it primarily a material to be used for younger people, and it is shown at its best when made up in fluffy, bouffant effects.

This summer, however, there were brought out a number of exceedingly charming organdie dresses on a straight silhouette. The dress shown at the right of the sketch is an example of the one of these. It is designed by Premet, and combines plain and embroidered organdie in a most engaging manner. The bodice is laid in soft pleats, and the sleeves and hem are finished with bands of pleating. This model was shown in white. The other model in the sketch is also a most attractive one and particularly suitable for a young matron. It is a design of Patou's, developed in white linen, with sleeves of rose organdie, and a clever garniture of rose organdie flowers at the waist.

My kidneys were irregular in action and at night I had to get up several times to pass the kidney secretions, which were scalding and highly colored. Doan's Kidney Pills were highly recommended so I got some. Several boxes relieved me of those sharp pains in my back and my kidneys became normal."

MISSIONARIES TO SAIL FOR INDIA LATE IN SUMMER

The Rev. and Mrs. David Gordon, who have spent the past year in this city, while the Rev. Gordon was on furlough from his missionary duties in India, are leaving the city the first part of August and will sail September 15 for Panjab India where they will resume their work.

Panjab is the same mission where the Rev. and Mrs. Gordon were formerly located, their work covering a period of twenty-seven years, in the United Presbyterian mission field.

The Rev. and Mrs. Gordon arrived in the United States on their recent furlough, May 28, last, and have spent the past year in this city, residing at the Scotsburn Apartments, on West Main Street.

REV. CULP SNAPPED BY CAMERA AS HE ALIGHTED FROM TRAIN AT XENIA, AND FAMILY WHO AWAITED HIM THERE

The above pictures of Rev. W. Culp and the family he deserted, were taken Monday afternoon at the Pennsylvania station in Xenia as the former preacher stepped from a train from Dayton and was hurried to a waiting automobile. The photo at the left shows Rev. Culp as he passed his wife and children who had come from Spring Valley with the hope of seeing him. He was not given an opportunity however, to talk to his family. The camera caught him as he turned to smile at Mrs. Culp who with her children are shown in the background. The picture at the left shows Mrs. Culp and her nine children just after they alighted from an automobile at the station to meet the man who had deserted them.

OHIO BUILDING AND LOAN BODIES GAIN

Columbus, July 18.—Ohio building and loan associations made a gain of $35,000,000 in assets during the fiscal year ending June 30 last according to figures made public today by John W. Prugh, state superintendent of building and loan institutions.

This gain is considered phenomenal in view of the fact that, during the first six months of the last fiscal year, Ohio was wallowing in the mire of hard times," Prugh declared. He pointed out that building and loan association funds were secured largely from working men and that the gain in assets of building and loan institutions was due to the working man giving up his "orgy of wild spending and now is living economically."

PROBATION OFFICERS FROM STATE VISIT THE COURTS

Columbus, July 18.—The Franklin county juvenile courts, was visited here today by 26 probation officers from various parts of the state who are attending the public efficiency institute now being held at Ohio State University. The visiting probation officers are to be entertained this afternoon with addresses at the university library by H. R. Hewitt, division of charities, state department of public welfare, will speak on "administration of recent laws relating to adoption of crippled children;" Miss Lucia B. Johnson, assistant director of the Ohio institute for public efficiency, on the problem of the unmarried mother;" and Miss Katherine Kennedy, secretary of the Ohio institute for public efficiency, on the juvenile court and the confidential exchange."

Dayton, O., July 19.—Walter Wilson Culp, Spring Valley parson, who eloped with Esther Hughes, today began his sentence of one year at the Dayton work house for abandoning his wife and nine children.

Culp was also fined $500 and costs. He still faces the charge of moving and disposing of a mortgaged automobile. He will be put to work in the truck patch.

Culp says he expected to go straight and do what he can for the moral well being of those around and about him.

The girl in the case is believed to be at some remote summer resort along the lakes. Her father T. J. Hughes is expected to press charges under the Mann act, according to statements he has recently made.

Behind the homely whitewashed walls of the Dayton City Work House, the Rev. W. W. Culp, 34, erstwhile Spring Valley circuit rider, will have time aplenty in which to reflect upon his sudden and romantic early morning elopement June 14 with Esther Hughes, 18-year-old music teacher and the daughter of his wife and nine children.

The preacher who claims he "talks straight out from his shoulder" when in the pulpit, and who has promised to preach reform to prisoners he comes in contact with, will have the opportunity to carry out his plans to save humanity as he finds it in incarceration. He was taken to the Dayton Work House Tuesday afternoon, arriving there at 2:20 o'clock, to begin his one-year sentence and to commence working out the $500 fine, and the costs amounting to $137.03, which he is expected will keep him in confinement four years.

The "boys" in jail at Port Huron, Michigan, hated to see the parson leave, he admitted to newspaper men while confined in the county jail here. While he spent several days in jail there following his apprehension at Tashmo, Park with the girl, Culp said he had the other prisoners singing hymns and they enlivened the bastille with voices raised in religious song. He expects to do the same thing at the Work House he said, and left armed with two hymn books.

And in the meantime what of the woman in the case, the wife, the butt of his accusations of ignorance and branded far and wide by her husband as the cause of his downfall? Facing an order to vacate the parsonage August 1, she is preparing to gather her brood about her, and undertake the sad journey to her original home at Wakarusa, Indiana. There, with her assets almost gone, she hopes to begin the long fight to keep her family together and await patiently the time when the Rev. Culp will be delivered unto her.

And she will be waiting. While Culp, with tears streaming down his face, pled for her forgiveness Tuesday morning in the court room, the woman, dry-eyed and undemonstrative, promised that forgiveness, as she has since the first promised it. The need of her children for a father and bread winner may be inspiring her unequalled quality of mercy for she herself exhibited little sentiment as the man who betrayed her begged that she not turn him down in his distress.

A little money saved from what kind friends have donated her, with her household goods, and personal effects, represent the assets she holds today against the future support of herself and nine children on the debit side of the ledger. With these she expects to make the return journey and there work and wait for the return of the much chastened eloper.

Wednesday came the first indication from the woman who bears the pastor's name of any resentment for the attack, made upon her personally. The resentment came in the form of a letter to this paper dated Tuesday, which is herewith published: "Dear Editor:—They say that the newspaper say that I have sent a telegram to Mr. Culp while he was away. They say it makes the Xenia folks mad, but that surely is a mistake. I did not send him a telegram. I did not know he was up at Michigan. I see that there are some things printed about me that are not true. The papers say that I helped her pack her clothes and kissed them both good-bye. I did not kiss her good-bye. I kissed my husband. Do you think I would kiss a man-thief that stole my man? I wish you would tell them that these things are not true and much obliged to you.

"Mrs. W. W. Culp." The letter is the first indication that the cutting denunciation of the parson-husband of his wife, had taken its toll in hurt. Some of the bravado that characterized the pastor's attitude when interviewed by Port Huron reporters had been cast aside as he bared his story before the crowd of spectators in the court room Tuesday, and choking with sobs made his plea for mercy.

With Culp sentenced to the work house, his wife and family will receive $3.50 a week from the county, according to Judge Marshall, the sentencing jurist. Had he been sent to the penitentiary the family would only have received $2.30 weekly.

ASSURANCE NEEDED AVERS OPERATOR

Columbus, July 19.—"Assurance not intimation, of protection is what we must have," declared an operator of large coal holdings in Ohio, here today, discussing President Harding's "invitation" to bituminous coal operators to resume mining, implying government protection.

"If we are assured of thorough federal protection, which I believe will mean troops in practically every mine in Ohio, the mines will undoubtedly operate. If we are given this protection, there is just as little doubt about the mines remaining closed," the operators declared.

MOB OF STRIKING MINERS DISPERSED BY POLICE

Washington, Pa., July 19.—Sheriff Otto Luellen and a detachment of state police today dispersed a mob of striking miners assembled a second time to attack the Wilson Mine at Cokeburg Junction, this county. Some of the men were firing shots at the mine when the officers arrived. The sheriff induced the men to return home peacefully. The Wilson mine yesterday started shipping coal and this aroused the idle union miners.

BEAUTY CHATS

ANSWERS DLETTERS

Evelne—A skin that is as dry as yours should always be treated with cream or oil after using water on it. If the creams you have purchased do not relieve this condition (and you should care to make them) I shall be glad to mail you formulas.

Suburban—The powder made from marshmallow root, starch and orris root is a combination that will not injure the skin. The essence of jasmine is for tinting and the amount should be regulated by the individual needs.

Reader—When one hip is larger than the other it is well to examine the spine, as a slight curvature will cause one hip to project more than the other one. Such cases are easily cured by the doctors who treat the spine. Buttermilk is a mild bleach for the skin.

Jane—Whiteheads should be treated first, with an application of peroxide, then the head pricked with the point of a needle that has been sterilized. Another application of peroxide should follow this, as it is cleansing and will tend to close the pores.

Rita—Blushing can be controlled, but first you must analyze its causes. It may be due to self-consciousness, although you can prevent the blush by taking a long, deep breath, hold and then repeat. Your poise will be regained through this rhythmic breathing, the thing which caused the blush being that which destroyed your poise.

If you play tennis during the coming season it will fill out those hollows under your arms.

R. M. R.—At 16 years, with a height of 5 ft., 2 in., your weight is correct at 110 pounds.

Dolly—If you still feel that your hair will look best when dyed black, you should have it done by someone who specializes in this work, as a poor job will make your hair appear lifeless and most likely uneven in shade. Most young women tint the grey hairs so they do not show, which is easily accomplished by means of the heena shampoo. This does not mean a henna shade for the whole head as the henna is only retained on the hair from five to fifteen minutes but it tints the white hair while it merely brightens the natural shade.

Faithful Reader—Dandruff will disappear if you get your scalp in a healthy condition. Then the normal secretions from the skin will throw off the dead particles. The best way to do this effect, is to get the blood to circulating freely in the muscles of the scalp through the daily massage. A good hair tonic, used two or three times each week, will also hasten the recovery. But, if you cannot have the tonic, you can overcome this condition by massaging regularly and observing other healthful requirements such as airing the hair and keeping the scalp clean.

Tomorrow—Reading Your Own Palm.

GROWS ATTACK EAGLE AND NEARLY KILL IT ON FARM

Cincinnati, July 19.—Battered to earth and almost killed by a hundred infuriated crows, a nine foot golden eagle was brought to Cincinnati on Tuesday by Harry Hall, a farmer living near Williamsburg, O., and given to the zoo. Mr. Hall said the eagle lit on a limb near a crow's nest containing fledglings and the excited parents summoned aid from all the countryside. He rescued the eagle just in time to save its life.

PROBE REPORT THAT SECRETARY DENBY NARROWLY ESCAPES DEATH IN PLANE FALL

Washington, July 19.—Upon receipt of unofficial reports that Secretary of the Navy Denby had barely escaped death in a fall from an airplane while flying in China assistant Secretary of the Navy Roosevelt today despatched an urgent cablegram to the Orient, requesting details of the accident.

The message was addressed to Secretary Denby himself through the commander in chief of the Asiatic fleet, aboard the U. S. S. Henderson, on which the naval secretary sailed for the Orient some weeks ago. Roosevelt's message said: "You reported an airplane accident. Cable details, Roosevelt."

Confidence was felt at the navy department that the secretary had not been injured seriously in the accident, also the commander of the Asiatic fleet would have advised Washington before this.

Secretary Denby was supposed to be in Peking today. The unofficial reports reaching the navy department were that Denby was a passenger in an airplane viewing the city and the great wall of China just to the north of it, and that an accident had happened aloft which compelled the pilot to negotiate an emergency landing.

Secretary Denby has been in the Orient for some weeks. He left Washington two months ago to go to Tokyo for a reunion of the class of '81 from the U. S. Naval academy and has only recently arrived in China from Japan. Secretary Denby formerly was for ten years in the Chinese customs service.

PROGRESSIVES SCORE ANOTHER VICTORY

Lincoln, Neb., July 19.—Progressives scored again over "stand patters" in both old line parties in Nebraska's state wide primaries on the face of incomplete returns early today.

The most surprising upset was that of Congressman Albert W. Jefferies, seeking nomination to the U. S. Senate as an "old guard" Republican. R. B. Howell, progressive Republican, is leading Jefferies by a wide margin. Unofficial returns on the Republican senatorial race from 529 precincts out of 1,913 in the state give Howell 12,792; Jefferies 9,282; C. A. Davis, 8,178; C. H. Gustavason 5,404.

U. S. Senator Gilbert M. Hitchcock, is conceded the Democratic nomination to succeed himself. His nearest contender is J. O. Shroyer, who was more than 6,000 votes behind the senator at 9 o'clock. Hitchcock made his campaign on his "progressive record." Shroyer advertised himself as "the most progressive progressive."

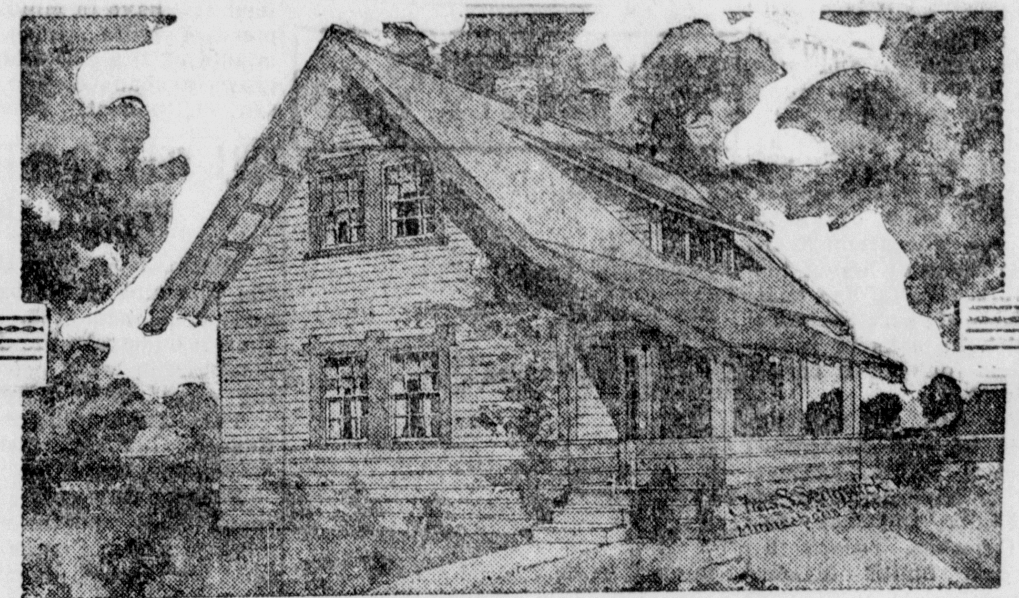

"Wets" appear to have won one out of six congressional contests. Paul Manhart, Republican, light wine and beer candidate, is leading a field of five in the first district. His margin of only 28 votes may be overcome by complete returns. Count of the congressional votes was too slow to indicate results at 9 a. m.

The gubernatorial contest also is still in doubt. Charles W. Bryan, Democrat, is leading J. N. Norton, progressive Democrat by a narrow margin. C. H. Randall, "machine" Republican, has a short lead over Adam McMillan and A. H. Byrum progressive Republicans in the race to succeed Gov. McKelvie.

PARTY BADLY DEFEATED

Winnipeg, Man., July 19.—Although Premier Norris, of Manitoba, was re-elected in the parliamentary elections held throughout the province yesterday, this party was badly defeated.

The farmers party, which opposed the Norris government, captured 35 of the 52 seats for which elections were held according to virtually complete returns today. This gives the farmer, party control of the provincial legislature. Premier Norris party, the liberals, elected only ten legislators.

CHLORINATION OF CITY WATER AND ALL MILK PASTEURIZED IS RECOMMENDATION OF COMMITTEE IN TYPHOID QUESTION

Suggestions that chlorination of city water and pasteurization of milk be started Thursday, that all milk be distributed in sterilized bottles, that no dealer distribute milk who has typhoid fever in his family, that frequent bacteria counts and dairy inspections be inaugurated immediately, that a sanitary squad be appointed to disinfect dumps, open vaults and fly-breeding places, that vaccination be carried out, that free vaccination clinics be established and that the state epidemiologist be advised of conditions immediately, were suggestions made to Dr. R. H. Grube, City Health Commissioner, by the citizens' committee of physicians composed of Dr. R. K. Finley, Dr. H. C. Messenger and Dr. B. R. McEllan, appointed at a meeting of civic organization representatives Tuesday afternoon.

The suggestions were made to Dr. Grube when he attended the first meeting of the committee held at the McClellan Hospital Wednesday morning, and the committee was given his promise to immediately act on the advice and suggestions. At the same time Dr. McEllan telephone Dr. Budreau, state epidemiologist, asking that he come here immediately to investigate the typhoid fever epidemic.

The committee acted on the water situation first. Agreeing that water is often a carrier of typhoid fever, the committee suggested that chlorination of city water be immediately undertaken. Dr. Grube said he believed he could have a chlorination plant in operation by Thursday morning and agreed to attempt to have the plant in operation by that time.

The committee then recommended an order that all milk sold in Xenia in the future be pasteurized and if these orders are carried out by Dr. Grube, all milk distributors, Thursday morning will be pasteurized. The committee learned that the Greene County Milk Condensing Company is equipped to pasteurize all milk for distributors not having their own equipment.

Further orders of the committee regarding the milk included a suggestion that no milk shall be sold in the future in open containers. Dr. Grube was advised to retain 12 men Wednesday afternoon to start Thursday morning as a sanitary squad to disinfect open vaults and dumps and other fly breeding places by pouring crude carbolic acid over them. The inauguration of a campaign against flies and the use of fly traps in disposing of flies, was suggested.

Also urged as a means of eliminating these germ carrying insects. Use of vaccination as a typhoid preventive was also urged strongly by the committee to the health commissioner, to be put in effect by him. The committee pointed out that during the Spanish-American War when 107,000 men were in camp there were 20,000 cases of typhoid fever, vaccination for typhoid at that time being unknown. During the late war there was less than 2,000 cases of typhoid fever among over 2,000,000 men, who were overseas and practically all had been vaccinated, the physicians pointed out.

The committee also advised the Greene County Chapter, American Red Cross and the Social Service League, to cooperate with Dr. Grube by obtaining vaccination free for all people who cannot afford to have it done. Plans for such work have already been made by the Red Cross chapter.

Following the meeting Dr. Grube agreed to act on the suggestions and recommendations of the committee at once and the committee will hold another meeting Thursday morning at which time a report from Dr. Grube, on the suggestions made, is expected.

City Manager S. O. Hale Wednesday afternoon approved the suggestions made to Dr. Grube by the committee. The following orders were issued Wednesday afternoon by Dr. Grube: First: City water supply to be chlorinated.

Second: All privy vaults to be disinfected under the supervision of the health department.

Third: No milk shall be sold in the city of Xenia unless it has been previously pasteurized and bottled and must have a bacterial content below 100,000 per cubic centimeter.

"The above orders to be in effect on and from the twentieth day of July, 1922."

POULTRY DISPLAY AT FAIR THIS YEAR SAID TO BE UNUSUAL

With a revision of the premium list, the poultry department of the Greene County Fair this year offered unusual opportunities for Greene County fanciers to make a showing.

The department is in charge of Thomas Faulkner, with Clyde Northrup, Yellow Springs, assistant. The entry fee for Greene County exhibitors is free and there will be no copping for all exhibits with the exception of breeding pens, and all poultry will be fed and cared for while on the grounds, with the feed furnished by the Xenia Farmers' Exchange.

The premiums have been raised as follows: Single birds, $1 firsts and 50 cents, second; exhibition pen, $2 firsts, and $1 second; breeding pens, $1 firsts and $2 seconds. All ribbons will be awarded to first, second, third and fourth positions and all varieties recognized by the American Standard of perfection will be eligible. With these inducements it is believed that this showing of Greene County poultry this year will be greater than ever and that success will mark this department of the annual fair.

COURT NEWS

SUITS TO COLLECT FEE

Charles L. Darlington, attorney, has brought suit in Common Pleas Court against Jeanette Barber and Charles Williams as guardian of the said Jeanette Barber, claiming a judgment amounting to $1750.

The plaintiff alleges that November 1, 1921, the defendant Jeanette Barber was adjudged insane by Judge Clyde W. Knapp, Judge of the Wayne County Court at Lyons, N. Y., and was committed to the Willard State Hospital, with Charles Williams appointed guardian and committed.

The plaintiff represents that he defended the said Jeanette Barber when an insane affidavit was filed against her when she lived at Cedarville, Ohio, and that he was also to act as her attorney in the settlement of the estate of her husband, the late Cal Barber. At that time the defendant, Jeanette Barber, was in a private sanitarium in Montgomery County, and it was necessary for her attorneys to obtain medical testimony and as a result was successful in defeating the affidavit and was also successful in obtaining much property out of the estate the plaintiff claims. The plaintiff alleges he also brought suit for her for dower and that as a result dower lands with a yearly value of $2480 were set off to her. The plaintiff alleges in the first cause of action his services were worth $1,000 and that in the second cause his services were worth $750 which he asks in judgment. Atty. F. L. Johnson is counsel for the plaintiff.

FAMOUS SUIT AGAIN IN COURT
Once again is he celebrated action of Melissa C. Harner against Mina Oglesbee, as administratrix of the estate of Daniel Oglesbee, deceased. Mina Oglesbee, Joseph B. Mason and Corrine Smith Mason, back in the courts.

Another suit with this title has been filed in which the plaintiff asks a judgment of $32,600 and certain other relief. The plaintiff was formerly a domestic employed as a housekeeper by the late Daniel Oglesbee. On his death she did not participate in his estate and she claims the amount due her under a written contract for the services she rendered him over a period of a number of years.

The plaintiff alleges that the property was transferred before his death to the other defendants named and the plaintiff claims reimbursement in the amount named out of the estate. The transfer was made to defeat her rights, the plaintiff alleges. The suit has been in Common Pleas Court several times before, in other instances the plaintiff being defeated. The plaintiff is represented this time by W. S. Howard and F. H. Dean.

BAKING IN YOUR FIRELESS COOKER

"How can I bake in my fireless cooker?" is a question that comes in to me often, from my readers.

Today there are "insulated ovens" on the market built on the same principle as the fireless cooker; that is, although they are square and box-like inside, they also have radiators which are heated over direct heat and then slipped into them, with the food, the oven door then being closed to make the compartment airtight.

In case an ordinary fireless cooker is to be used for baking, it is best to surround it, on top, bottom and sides, with heavy sheet-astobes. A wire rack will be needed for separating the food from too direct contact with the hot stone which lies on the bottom of the pail; and the other hot disc, which is placed above the food, may be supported by an inverted wire frying basket.

In using either the insulated oven, or your wireless cooker pail, to bake in, you should use this tissue-paper test to find out whether the disc is hot enough to bake the particular food you have in mind. Lay a small piece of white tissue paper in the middle of the disc when you put the disc on to heat. When the paper paper (that is, a golden brown,) the disc is hot enough to bake such dishes as apples, potatoes, beans, scalloped dishes of all sorts, most puddings, breads, and loaf cake. But if you want a very hot oven, for such foods as biscuits, layer cake and cup cakes, you must wait till the tissue paper on the disc has become a rich brown. The cake and biscuit in the following supper menu may be baked in your cooker pail:

Cold Sliced Meat.
Vegetable Salad
Baking Powder Biscuits
Iced Tea Fresh Berries
Cup Cakes

Baking Powder Biscuits: Sift together one pint of flour, four teaspoons of baking powder (or one teaspoon of soda and two teaspoons of cream of tartar) and one-half teaspoon of salt. Work into this dry mixture, with the fingers, two tablespoons of butter or lard. Wet with three-fourths of a cup to one cup of either milk or water, and toss the dough onto a floured board. Roll to about one-half inch in thickness, and cut into biscuits. Lay these on a greased pan, brush tops with either milk or melted butter, and bake 20 minutes with the discs heated so as to turn the tissue test-paper a rich, dark brown.

Cup Cakes: Cream one-half cup of butter, and add one cup of sugar and the yolks of two beaten eggs. Now sift together one and one-half cups of flour, one and one-half teaspoons of baking powder, one-fourth teaspoon salt and one-half teaspoon ground nutmeg. Add this dry mixture to the first mixture, alternating with one-half cup of sweet milk. Beat the two egg-whites stiff and fold these in. Stir all well mixed, and turn all into a greased cup-cake pan. Bake 20 minutes with the discs heated so as to turn the tissue test-paper a dark brown. This may be baked in layers, in the same way. But if you wish to bake it in loaf-cake form, heat discs till paper turns a golden brown only, and leave the loaf-cake in the pail for 40 minutes.

WILL SEEK TO DETERMINE WHAT IS LIVING WAGE

Washington July 19—Aroused by the alarming situation in both coal and rail industries, congress will shortly undertake the difficult task of determining what constitutes "a living wage" in industry.

This announcement came from Senator Cummins, father of the railway labor board.

Senator Cummins said the government must undertake to determine what is a living wage for labor, notably for the coal miners and railroad men, before it can expect to bring about a lasting agreement as to working conditions between the employer and the worker.

A SATURDAY NIGHT BEAU

Chapter 21.

William had set Saturday night as the time he would call for Cora. They both worked hard, and had to get up very early. Sunday morning they could sleep later.

Nellie insisted upon lending something to Cora—for luck, she exclaimed. So she laundered her best set of collar and cuffs and sewed them in Cora's best dress, a dark silk that in the daytime showed wear, but which at night was quite elegant—so Nellie declared.

Cora insisted the girls go down in the dingy parlor to meet William Dalton, and he was so well behaved, so genuinely pleased at the courtesy, that both girls were delighted with him.

"He's one little bit of all right!" Nellie said as she and Gladys watched him walking beside Cora. "They make a nice looking couple, don't they? I wonder if she will marry him?"

"It's pretty early to talk of that!" Gladys laughed. "This is the first time they have gone out together. Then I imagine he is poor, doesn't earn a great deal more than Cora, and he told her his mother was an invalid."

"Wasn't it nice of her to introduce him to us?" Nellie went on.

"Yes, I guess Cora knows more about those things than the rest of us. She had a different bringing up. Most girls would have sneaked out without saying a word. But I guess a fellow respects a girl for being introduced to her friends. It sort of takes the place of the chaperone society girls have. I can't explain it very well, Nellie, not as well as Cora could, but a fellow who is treated like Cora treats them doesn't ever get fresh."

"I see! Yes, they wouldn't! They think she's proud of them, wants her friends to know them, so they are on their good behavior. Men are queer animals! I don't understand them at all! But I know enough to make them mind their own business and let me alone. I do hope Cora enjoys herself," she added.

Nellie insisted upon getting the home meals, and most of the time she also cleared away. Gladys begged to let her help after Cora left, but she replied almost indignantly:

"A nice little sponge I'd be if I didn't do such a little bit after all you two girls have done for me; and me having the soft job I have, easy hours and all, while you two work like dogs! It makes me sick because I can't do more and eat less: I eat as much every meal as you two together, and I only pay for a third of the grub. But this funny stomach of mine always seems to be hollering for food. It always has ever since I can remember! Maybe if I live long enough I'll get filled up, and it will stop pestering me—it don't make me fat either."

"Thank your stars for that! You're too short to be fat. You'd look like a regular roly-poly if you were." Then: "Never complain of what you eat, Nellie, only wish Cora had as good an appetite."

These poor office girls were far more thoughtful of each other, far kinder, than many girls who would have considered them beneath their notice. Yet they talked little of what they did. It was a matter of course with them.

Cora came in about 10:30, having spent a delightful evening. She looked bright and animated, really pretty. She had seen "Way Down East" and had to tell them the entire story.

"After the show we had ice cream and cake at the restaurant next the theater. William wanted me to have something more, but I know he is poor, he supports his mother and a woman who takes care of her, so I refused. But I had such a nice time!"

"You see I didn't have to feel that way when my boss took me out! I wasn't afraid of hurting his pocket book," Nellie broke in, "but I guess lots of fellows who work in offices are just as hard up as we girls. I used to think a man didn't have no troubles, that God kept them all for us. But since I have been in the office with that white-faced bookkeeper, I have sort of changed my mind. That man has troubles—and I know it!"

The girls spent a long quiet Sunday. It rained hard all day, and none of them went out. They looked over their clothes, washed and ironed a few things, Nellie declaring:

"It can't be wrong for us because we don't have no other time and God knows it."

Her references to the Deity always amused Cora and Gladys. She was in no way sacreligious. It was as if God were one of them, knew their needs.

POULTRY DISPLAY AT FAIR THIS YEAR SAID TO BE UNUSUAL

With a revision of the premium list, the poultry department of the Greene County Fair this year offered unusual opportunities for Greene County fanciers to make a showing. The department is in charge of Thomas Faulkner, with Clyde Northrup, Yellow Springs, assistant. The entry fee for Greene County exhibitors is free and there will be free topping for all exhibits with the exception of breeding pens, and all poultry will be fed and cared for while on the grounds, with the feed furnished by the Xenia Farmers' Exchange.

The premiums have been raised as follows: Single birds, $1 firsts and 50 cents, second; exhibition pen, $2 firsts, and $1 seconds; breeding pens, $4 firsts and $2 seconds. All ribbons will be awarded to first, second, third and fourth positions and all varieties recognized by The American Standard of Perfection will be eligible. With these inducements, it is believed that this showing of Greene County poultry this year will be greater than ever and that success will mark this department of the annual fair.
